A TEST CASE.

Occurs on the Report of the Credentials Committee.

FAVOR OF - A. B. S. O. V.

The Result stood 463 to 423—The Delegates Affected did not Vote—Six More Harrison Votes—The Day's Proceedings.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—The proceedings were opened by Bishop E. P. Whipple of Minneapolis, whose invocation was pronounced with greatunction.

The next thing in order was the report of the committee on credentials, and Governor McKim of Massachusetts, by direction of the committee, asked for further time and permission to sit continuously.

Sponser of Wisconsin was on his feet in an instant in behalf of the administration to spare for advantage and put some interrogations to Governor McKim. He was also an administration man, and his office and bearing were in the committee by an adverse majority. Sponser asked to report. Governor McKim was very dry. It was, he said, a matter of personal opinion, but if his proceedings were attended with reasonable success they could not hope to report before tomorrow. Sponser then inquired if the committee could not report in unqualified terms, and the reply was that Governor McKim was in the chair and the question almost answered, if it was none of the committee was ready to report.

Gov. S. C. Lockwood, of Idaho, presented the report of the committee on organization. A wild scene took place when the committee reported Governor McKim of Ohio, for chairman. Gov. Samuel T. Jackson, of Connecticut, ex-Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, and General William Mahone, of Virginia, were appointed a committee to escort Governor McKim to the chair. A magnificent ovation greeted the governor when he stepped into the chair on the platform.

The temporary chairman introduced his successor and retired amid great applause and there was prolonged and renewed cheering and waving of banners, after which Governor McKim spoke with the greatest enthusiasm.

At the conclusion of Governor McKim's address, Gov. E. P. Whipple, of Ohio, the colored orator, elicited simply a bow of acknowledgment. The chair announced the next order of business to be the report of the committee on rules and order of business. General Benjamin of Pennsylvania said:

Mr. President, I am directed by your committee on rules and order of business to submit to you the rules for the government of the convention. The report of the committee on the rules of the house of representatives of the fifty-first congress for the government of the convention and after its other details, provided the following order of business:

- 1st.—Report of the committee on credentials.
- 2nd.—Report of the committee on permanent organization.
- 3rd.—Report of the committee on resolutions.
- 4th.—Report, naming of members of national committee.
- 5th.—Presentation of candidates for president.
- 6th.—Balloting.
- 7th.—Presentation of candidates for vice president.
- 8th.—Balloting.

The report was accepted by acclamation. The report of the committee on resolutions was next commenced, and ex-Governor Foster of Ohio, its chairman, arose. Instantly the convention burst into a storm of applause of welcome to the eloquent orator. This after nearly a minute, and at the conclusion of the impromptu ovation Chairman Foster stated that his committee was unprepared to report, and requested further time. The extension of time was granted. The roll of states was called for the names of the new national committee men. When Iowa was called, and the reelection of Clarkson, the Maine center, was announced, cheer after cheer followed from the Maine delegates. A great demonstration greeted the report of the names of the new national committee men. When Iowa was called, and the reelection of Clarkson, the Maine center, was announced, cheer after cheer followed from the Maine delegates.

Gov. McKim of Ohio, for chairman. Gov. Samuel T. A magnificent ovation greeted the governor when he stepped into the chair on the platform.

At the conclusion of Governor McKim's address, Gov. E. P. Whipple, of Ohio, the colored orator, elicited simply a bow of acknowledgment. The chair announced the next order of business to be the report of the committee on rules and order of business. General Benjamin of Pennsylvania said:

Mr. President, I am directed by your committee on rules and order of business to submit to you the rules for the government of the convention. The report of the committee on the rules of the house of representatives of the fifty-first congress for the government of the convention and after its other details, provided the following order of business:

of candidates for the presidency," said Chairman McKim. Senator Culman arose to question the regularity of this order of business, but the convention supposing no objection to place some one in nomination, complimented the distinguished Illinoisian with prolonged applause. The senator was slightly embarrassed, but quickly recovered, and stated that he arose to question the regularity of the proceeding to nominating speakers before the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials and resolutions. A glance at the rules showed that no nominations could be made until the report of the committee had been received, and on motion of Hon. M. E. DeYoung, of California, the convention adjourned.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—The convention adjourned at 10 o'clock for the first time. It was not the fault of the hall, however, for outside the sunniness was very oppressive. Big flags were waving throughout the hall, and the delegates presented the appearance of a forest stirred by a breeze.

The session was only to the eye, for not a word was uttered, except what was created by the constant waving of the thousands of flags. After the prayer the chairman called for the committee on credentials and resolutions. The committee moved, and a recess was taken until 8 o'clock in order to give the committee more time, but yielded for a resolution of Senator Culman of Illinois ordering the work of the chair and recommending a national appropriation therefor. This resolution was referred to the committee on resolutions. The question now reverted upon ex-Governor McKim.

Mr. McKim of Ohio, the colored orator, elicited simply a bow of acknowledgment. The chair announced the next order of business to be the report of the committee on rules and order of business. General Benjamin of Pennsylvania said:

The Minnesota convention will nominate the next president of the United States.

The three delegates are playing a waiting game, but if they wait a month it will not necessarily be successful.

Cleveland and St. are not without an interest in the result. Just as a man does to know whether he is to be king or a subject.

Secretary Russ is proposed for vice president. The spectacle of the very cunning dissembler of senators with a "So, boss," would perhaps in itself be sufficiently exciting to warrant his election.

The school board have adopted a resolution calling on a who have anything to say against the school. Building to make their assertions good. This is a wise and proper move. Let the matter be settled once for all.

The Republic and the Oregonians offer some unadvised advice in regard to entering on the part of GAZETTE reporters. When we get ready to run the local edition of this paper on the seashore and the Oregonians know of no one whom we would sooner consult than the Republic and the Oregonians.

The New York Sun has long been in special opposition to ex-President Cleveland, whom it denigrates to the "Stuffed Prophet." And now some of the smart newspaper men have adopted a new party designation and refer to the New York Sun, (Christ), the abbreviation meaning untrustworthy.

The Denver Times assembly has issued a circular calling the attention of the various county officers to the law requiring the attendance of all men at school for twelve weeks in every year. There can be no doubt that the law is a wise one, and the school directors of each county should see that it is strictly enforced.

The regular price of subscription of the GAZETTE is fifty cents a month. A cash rebate of ten cents is made on subscriptions paid in advance at the business office. A very few of our subscribers are unreasonable enough to want to "us" to the "house" of sending us and collecting and then expect the discount. But the rule is invariable.

Emperor William has instructed his soldiers to go to the people in the line, they would not be much different from what they are now doing. It seems to be the opinion of many of these soldiers that a citizen has no rights whatever that a soldier is bound to respect and the emperor is inclined to encourage them in this view. There is no surer way to invite revolution and encourage anarchy.

The Rocky Mountain Sportsmen's association has again selected Broadmoor as the place for its annual meeting and sports. The committee is a great deal because there were numerous applicants for the honor some of whom offered very substantial inducements. Last year's meeting was a very successful one and especially the contests for the prize offered by local merchants. We trust that some of the citizens of Colorado Springs will feel inclined to a similar action this year.

Mr. Harry H. Woelfel, who has been connected with the Gazette Printing company for the past two years, has resigned his position and will be connected with the Farmers and Merchants bank at Montrose. Mr. Woelfel has been traveling representative of the Gazette Printing company for a number of years past and has a great many friends throughout the state. All of these will wish him success in his new business, but none of them more than the many friends in Colorado Springs and especially his old companions on the Gazette force.

We hope that the convention which has been held in St. Louis will have a strong influence in encouraging public sentiment in favor of the Nicaraguan canal. This project in the first place is on the basis of authorities' practicality and its construction can be accomplished without an inordinate expenditure of money. As to its importance to the commerce of the world and to the United States in particular it is hardly possible to exaggerate. From a military standpoint it is almost a positive necessity. There is out there some day that can't be built before many years, and by Americans, and the sooner it is done, the better.

For a long time there have been widespread accusations against the new high school building and there are quite a number of people who think that there is something wrong about its construction. Now whenever difference of opinion there may have been in regard to the advisability of constructing the building, since its construction is agreed upon beyond question, every man and woman in this city is interested in having it well built. These school boards who have charge of it and their critics are all in conflict to have a good, safe and honest building, and we do not believe that the desire to be able to say, "I told you so," or any other reason, is sufficient to make anyone wish to see it otherwise. And since it has been talked around that there is something wrong with the building it is important that those who have come so should make good their assertions or they should own their assertions unqualifiedly. The GAZETTE learned on Saturday that the matter was to come before the board and make the story public party as a news item and partly in order that the thing might be definitely settled now one way or another. So far the investigation has failed to establish any reason for serious criticism. If there is anything more that can be brought forward against the building now is the time to do it. If not we hope that the uncharitable criticism will cease. There is a praiseworthy disposition to push this matter to an end and settle it once for all. Mr. Reil's report will probably be conclusive and will be awaited with great interest.

Every part of the state will join in sincere regret that Oregon has met so serious a loss as the destruction of the business part of the town by fire. But great as the loss is there are some things that will help to mitigate it. Foremost of these we must count the spirit of incomitance enterprise with which the west is so familiar and of which Oregon is striking illustration. There is not anyone who has an idea that the setback will be anything but temporary. There are more than five to one who are looking at the ruins and the treasures that are hidden in these ruins will soon rebuild the structures that are gone. Another source of gratification is there was no loss of life. The situation of the town in the bottom of a narrow gulch portending all over overhanging a reef of unknown volume has given rise to the live safe fears in regard to the safety of the town and its people. To be woken up have been a surprise at any time in the past weeks of the destruction of Oregon by fire was a great loss of life. Better the fire than the flood. We have no doubt that Oregon will be rebuilt, larger, better and in a safer position than before. In the meantime the owners of the property who were engaged in business there. The camp has the sympathy of the entire state, and if needed can have more substantial assistance.

There are four western men out of five who are in the silver resolution subcommittee. These are Senator De la, Senator Jones, ex-Congressman Cannon of Illinois, and Mr. Fairbank of Wisconsin. As to the opinion of two of these there can be no question. Mr. Cannon is said to be a "strong" in favor of silver and Mr. Fairbank is said to have expressed a similar sentiment. Under the circumstances it seems reasonable to expect silver and which will express the determination of the Republican party to co a "charity" can to restore silver to its rightful place as a money metal. As we believe, fairly represents the wish and purpose of a large majority of Republicans and the plan will be far more definite and outspoken than anything the Democrats will venture to accept.

Of the cases of contesting delegations which came before the national committee for action yesterday, two involved the political rights of the negroes. From Texas and South Carolina were contesting delegations from political organizations from which negroes were excluded on account of their color. The committee very properly sustained the regular delegates, holding that no Republican organization can exclude any one on account of color. Such a principle is wrong in justice and in accordance with good Republicanism. To allow a advantage may in some of the southern states represent the acquiescence of denying negro rights for the purpose of creating the so-called south, but no good can ever come from such action. The Republican principle is just as good a one now as it was at the close of the war, and it must be maintained.

Citizens of Colorado Springs have spent in the last six weeks over $5,000 for choice rugs and paintings. The record speaks for our city's claims to real culture. Such spending is not wasteful, the money is stored in most valuable form for constant enjoyment and permanent benefit.

The national Republican convention is in no danger of selecting a candidate that any Republican need refuse to support.

The school board have adopted a resolution calling on a who have anything to say against the school. Building to make their assertions good. This is a wise and proper move. Let the matter be settled once for all.

The New York Sun has long been in special opposition to ex-President Cleveland, whom it denigrates to the "Stuffed Prophet." And now some of the smart newspaper men have adopted a new party designation and refer to the New York Sun, (Christ), the abbreviation meaning untrustworthy.

The Denver Times assembly has issued a circular calling the attention of the various county officers to the law requiring the attendance of all men at school for twelve weeks in every year. There can be no doubt that the law is a wise one, and the school directors of each county should see that it is strictly enforced.

The regular price of subscription of the GAZETTE is fifty cents a month. A cash rebate of ten cents is made on subscriptions paid in advance at the business office. A very few of our subscribers are unreasonable enough to want to "us" to the "house" of sending us and collecting and then expect the discount. But the rule is invariable.

Emperor William has instructed his soldiers to go to the people in the line, they would not be much different from what they are now doing. It seems to be the opinion of many of these soldiers that a citizen has no rights whatever that a soldier is bound to respect and the emperor is inclined to encourage them in this view. There is no surer way to invite revolution and encourage anarchy.

The Rocky Mountain Sportsmen's association has again selected Broadmoor as the place for its annual meeting and sports. The committee is a great deal because there were numerous applicants for the honor some of whom offered very substantial inducements. Last year's meeting was a very successful one and especially the contests for the prize offered by local merchants. We trust that some of the citizens of Colorado Springs will feel inclined to a similar action this year.

Mr. Harry H. Woelfel, who has been connected with the Gazette Printing company for the past two years, has resigned his position and will be connected with the Farmers and Merchants bank at Montrose. Mr. Woelfel has been traveling representative of the Gazette Printing company for a number of years past and has a great many friends throughout the state. All of these will wish him success in his new business, but none of them more than the many friends in Colorado Springs and especially his old companions on the Gazette force.

We hope that the convention which has been held in St. Louis will have a strong influence in encouraging public sentiment in favor of the Nicaraguan canal. This project in the first place is on the basis of authorities' practicality and its construction can be accomplished without an inordinate expenditure of money. As to its importance to the commerce of the world and to the United States in particular it is hardly possible to exaggerate. From a military standpoint it is almost a positive necessity. There is out there some day that can't be built before many years, and by Americans, and the sooner it is done, the better.

For a long time there have been widespread accusations against the new high school building and there are quite a number of people who think that there is something wrong about its construction. Now whenever difference of opinion there may have been in regard to the advisability of constructing the building, since its construction is agreed upon beyond question, every man and woman in this city is interested in having it well built. These school boards who have charge of it and their critics are all in conflict to have a good, safe and honest building, and we do not believe that the desire to be able to say, "I told you so," or any other reason, is sufficient to make anyone wish to see it otherwise. And since it has been talked around that there is something wrong with the building it is important that those who have come so should make good their assertions or they should own their assertions unqualifiedly. The GAZETTE learned on Saturday that the matter was to come before the board and make the story public party as a news item and partly in order that the thing might be definitely settled now one way or another. So far the investigation has failed to establish any reason for serious criticism. If there is anything more that can be brought forward against the building now is the time to do it. If not we hope that the uncharitable criticism will cease. There is a praiseworthy disposition to push this matter to an end and settle it once for all. Mr. Reil's report will probably be conclusive and will be awaited with great interest.

Every part of the state will join in sincere regret that Oregon has met so serious a loss as the destruction of the business part of the town by fire. But great as the loss is there are some things that will help to mitigate it. Foremost of these we must count the spirit of incomitance enterprise with which the west is so familiar and of which Oregon is striking illustration. There is not anyone who has an idea that the setback will be anything but temporary. There are more than five to one who are looking at the ruins and the treasures that are hidden in these ruins will soon rebuild the structures that are gone. Another source of gratification is there was no loss of life. The situation of the town in the bottom of a narrow gulch portending all over overhanging a reef of unknown volume has given rise to the live safe fears in regard to the safety of the town and its people. To be woken up have been a surprise at any time in the past weeks of the destruction of Oregon by fire was a great loss of life. Better the fire than the flood. We have no doubt that Oregon will be rebuilt, larger, better and in a safer position than before. In the meantime the owners of the property who were engaged in business there. The camp has the sympathy of the entire state, and if needed can have more substantial assistance.

There are four western men out of five who are in the silver resolution subcommittee. These are Senator De la, Senator Jones, ex-Congressman Cannon of Illinois, and Mr. Fairbank of Wisconsin. As to the opinion of two of these there can be no question. Mr. Cannon is said to be a "strong" in favor of silver and Mr. Fairbank is said to have expressed a similar sentiment. Under the circumstances it seems reasonable to expect silver and which will express the determination of the Republican party to co a "charity" can to restore silver to its rightful place as a money metal. As we believe, fairly represents the wish and purpose of a large majority of Republicans and the plan will be far more definite and outspoken than anything the Democrats will venture to accept.

Of the cases of contesting delegations which came before the national committee for action yesterday, two involved the political rights of the negroes. From Texas and South Carolina were contesting delegations from political organizations from which negroes were excluded on account of their color. The committee very properly sustained the regular delegates, holding that no Republican organization can exclude any one on account of color. Such a principle is wrong in justice and in accordance with good Republicanism. To allow a advantage may in some of the southern states represent the acquiescence of denying negro rights for the purpose of creating the so-called south, but no good can ever come from such action. The Republican principle is just as good a one now as it was at the close of the war, and it must be maintained.

Citizens of Colorado Springs have spent in the last six weeks over $5,000 for choice rugs and paintings. The record speaks for our city's claims to real culture. Such spending is not wasteful, the money is stored in most valuable form for constant enjoyment and permanent benefit.

The national Republican convention is in no danger of selecting a candidate that any Republican need refuse to support.

Beaver Creek for the purity and quality of its water administration of justice is the only feature that leaves nothing to improve upon. It is nothing marvelous how free this camp is from the beginning of the various forms of crime or violence. Two are disposed to criticize Creek in an unfriendly manner.

It seems that according to the school census there are more children over 5 and under 21 years of age in the Cripple Creek district than in any other school district in the county except that of Colorado Springs.
